There were two possessions of the young men of James Dillingham, in which both were proud. On the other hand, Jim sold his precious gold watch to buy an expensive comb from Tartoisshell for Della's beautiful hair. The ironic twist in history is that Della and Jim sold their own treasures they owned for which the gifts were made. So she sold her beautiful hair and brought a gift to James. Thus, the title is quite significant and appropriate. Based on events, try a justification of history as an example of comic irony. Bring the relationship between Jim and King Solomon. At 7:00, she made coffee and prepared the frying pan to cook the cutlets. Jim fell on the couch and put his hands under his back and smiled. They were planned to make Christmas Eve special with a wonderful gift for each other.
